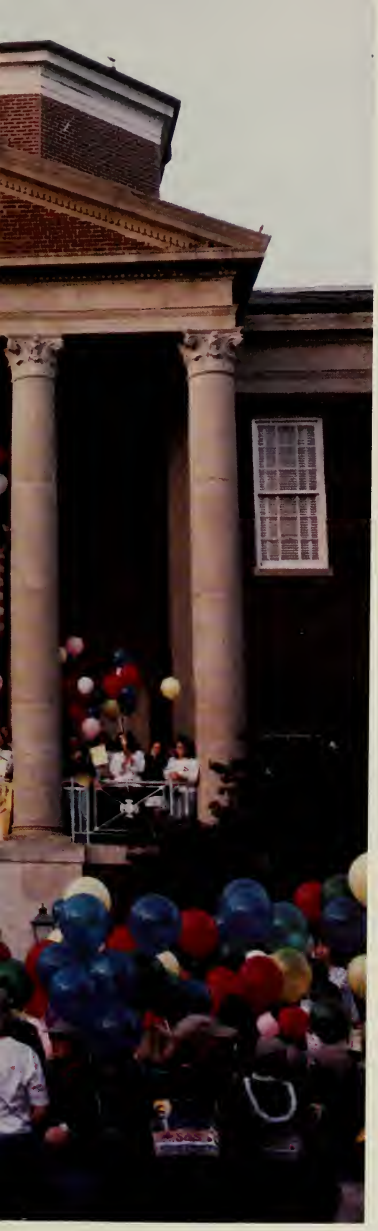
THE FEW
THE ME



Student Life

Although academics come first at Meredith College, student life and class unity are a strong focus. Throughout the students' four years at Meredith, they will turn over many new leaves socially, intectually and emotionally that will strengthen their personality and self-confidence. Such events that students may enjoy during their time of gowth are Fall Fest, White Iris Ball, Cornhuskin, Sopomore Father-Daughter Dance, Junior Class Ring Dinner, Spring Formal, Spring Fling, Stunt, Awards Day, and finally, the long awaited Graduation... and these are only a few of the many campus wide events that students can join in. Social events held periodically such as picnics with live bands, allow students to bring dates to enjoy the food and fun.

To help improve student life even more, each dorm has now added visiting hours that are installed into one day a month, usually a Sunday, for guys to experiece a little bit of Meredith dorm life. This is a treat for the male population who only see their girlfriend's room on moving days.

With so many great campus activities, it is rather hard to fit all the fun into four short but busy years at Meredith College.

Turning Over a New Leaf

Turning into Meredith Angels

The most anticipated day for the class of 1998 began as soon as each student pulled into the long Meredith driveway with packed cars and anxious families. The traditional rainbow, a genuine sign of welcome for the new students, was just the first glimpse of an upcoming week filled with color and excitement. As soon as the students poured into their rooms and met their roommates and advisors, they were whisked away to the beginning of what would be a structured, informative, and creative week. The events that took place were served to shape and prepare the Freshmen class for a new world of college life. In this week, they got a rough draft of how to survive as independent, outgoing females. To tie in learning as well as fun, the orientation crew worked hard to make "A League of Our Own," the theme for orientation, a blast. As the days progressed and the thought of home lessened, the thought of registration increased. How is a new student supposed to know how to register and what classes to take? Well that's what advisors were for. During this week, student advisors provided valuable insight on what classes to take, how and when to register, and how to make the overall process as painless as possible. With this in mind, the advisors proved to be very significant in the adjustments of each student. Every advisee group met a set number of times throughout the course of orientation. This would be the start of a year long process known as "Transitions."

With the help of a very special and dedicated orientation crew, trusty advisors, and new friends to pave memories along the way, the "transition" from high school to college was made much easier. Meredith would now be a warm and inviting home away from home for the class of 1998.

Jennifer Baines

Welcome, Bienvenido, Bonjour! Just before the crowd of freshmen begin to pour in, last minute touches on the welcome sign are made.

Where Do I Sleep? The first few hours of move-in day are very busy as this student attempts to get her room organized. The piles of everything that used to fit perfectly at home now seem to have no place to go.

A Pot of Gold at the End of Every Rainbow! For the line of cars that carries the new freshmen class of 1998, the pot of gold is also full of a fun, excitement, and memories that they will treasure forever.

Uh Oh, Here Comes the Hammer! Hillary West, Megan Schmidt, and Heather Hudgins - McKean demonstrate the newest dance moves to the freshmen at orientation, and really get everybody pumped up.

Ring Around the Rosey! As a new student enters college, her feelings of anticipation are overwhelming. For this freshman, her worries are momentarily forgotten as she prizes her fresh bouquet of roses.

Slide Together, Slide Together, Step, Step! The crafty freshmen class seemed to grasp the new line dancing of the '90's with no problem. Now they would be ready for the Raleigh hot spots.

nd it's a Grand Slam! The orientation v poses after a grand slam performance ne of the many skits presented during ntation. The crew incorporated the ne, "A League of Our Own" in most y event.

We're Almost There, Right? These students carry the foundation of their room (the carpet) with ease.

Little Red Caboose (Cola Cart)! For those who worked long an d hard in the heat to move into rooms and get adjusted, there were pit stops all over the campus where they could stop and get a cool, free drink. Thanks to orientation members, no one was left thirsty.

So What Do You Think, Mom? After a long day of meetings and moving in, parents, students, and faculty mingled in front of Joyner Hall where they were treated to tasty snacks and warm smiles.

Festive Occasions

The 1994 year kicked off many exciting and crowd-gathering events to welcome the Meredith community. During the break of summer and fall when the sun set beautifully through the trees, Meredith students, faculty, and family members enjoyed the outdoor activities that Family Day and Fall Fest provided. After students had settled in for the fall semester, it was time to include their families in the fun they were already having. Family day reunited many for a relaxing day filled with a beach music band that encouraged everyone to let loose and shag. They played a range of summery, upbeat music that got even the shy people dancing. While the band kept everyone's ears satisfied, a picnic with "all the fixings" kept all stomachs full. To top off the event, boyfriends from open house made the day even bigger. With loved ones all around, good food, and a great band, the day could not have been more perfect.

Just before the cold of winter set in, Meredith provided Fall Fest, a festive and action-packed day, for everyone, including the general public. This was a special day because all events were held on the ever-popular island. Once again, a trendy band played the crowd with its tunes while candy apples, cotton candy, popcorn, and hotdogs were being served to tide people over until the picnic. The smell of hamburgers filled the air and people relaxed on blankets while they ate. For the dare devil in the brave few, there was a gravity wheel that was powered mainly by the person riding it. With a slight push from supervisers every once in a while, the ability to maintain focus got harder. As people stumbled off this twister, they managed to hop on over to the jumping tent. People bobbing up and down cried in laughter and then crumbled into the cushioned bottom. This event was a real crowd pleaser, especially for the children.

With events like these to keep everyone busy, it is hard not to hope that the next year will get here just as fast so the fun can start all over again.

Jennifer Baines

It's Open House! Meredith students definitely take advantage of open house which falls on the third Sunday of most every month. This is a chance for guys to come into dorm rooms with the Meredith students and enjoy special time together instead of having to sit in the parlor. This couple really enjoys their time together on this occasional day.

Waterboy! During Meredith's MEA Family Day, one little boy seemed to be totally in awe of the plentiful fountain in the courtyard.

Tropical Dreams! Family Day organizers once again found a fabulous band that played hits from the 50's to the present with great accuracy for the original artists.

Let's Broaden Our Horizons

Have you ever wondered how you could see the world , get credit for it, and actually have fun at the same time? Well, the Meredith Abroad Program offers students the opportunity to travel abroad with some of the finest professors of Meredith College and study in new and different settings which help to provide personal and cultural enrichment. This year students were offered a choice of whether they wished to be influenced by some works of the great artists in Italy; study personnel policy in England; discover the art and history of southern France and Paris; study the eco-system of the Tundra in the Arctic Region of Russia; or study a multi-disciplinary program in Zurich and London. Although these students were exposed to travel in a part of the world they may have never seen, the experience was not all travel and leisure. The students were expected to attend pre-departure films and lectures, as well as on-site lectures and guided visits which required them to devote selected hours to course work. However, students still found the chance to have fun while learning at the same time. Many students concluded that the knowledge gained from the trip was unbelievable. They would treasure their memories forever.

Brandi Cole

"This program has made me realize that I can conquer anything. You learn so much about yourself and the world around you."

-Molly Shepherd

"I cherish the lessons learned and experienced gained. I love it all!"

-Emily Griffith

"I have learned so much about other contries and their cultures. The memories will last forever, so will the friends. I have never learned so much in a school year, much less in one summer, in my life."

- Laura Brown

" This is the best way to see Europe!"

- Julie Thomas

Swiss Miss! Rene Cloer experiences a world of beauty as she passes through a quaint village in the Swiss Alps.

Traveling in Pairs! There is nothing better than being with a good friend and living the high life. Susan Horne and Erin Hamm do just that while walking the ancient streets of Rome.

A Night on the Town! Meredith students get all dressed up for a night full of fun and excitement in London.

Night on the Nile

When the stress of classes was about to take its toll, Meredith students went out for "A Night on the Nile," which was the 1994 theme for the White Iris Ball. The MEA sponsored event on October 28, was held at the Raleigh Civic Center. This traditional dance hall, as many students know it, opened its doors for a night full of music, dancing, and socializing with friends and dates. For most couples or groups, dinner before the dance was the plan; however, if primping and picture taking took too long, students could munch on the festive refreshments offered for those who missed the excitement before. Throughout the evening, the band played a variety of slow songs for the romantics and fast , trendy songs for the wild and crazy ones. This medley of popular songs seemed to keep everyone satisfied until 1:00am when the band began to conclude their entertainment. As the magical night came to a close, people tried to squeeze in one final dance because it would be another year before they could experience the White Iris Ball again. With pictures to last a lifetime and memories to hold close, this special night would be cherished by Meredith students forever.

Jennifer Baines

Swing Out Sister! As students dispersed through the ballroom, many still danced and took advantage of the extra space.

Another Slow Dance! For many students, the White Iris Ball was a time for them to share special memories with their dates.

Going Solo! This particular guy obviously forgot about his date as he continues to dance not realizing he was going solo.

Dinner Break! The traditional White Iris night involves going to dinner before the dance for Meredith students.

Hi, Mom! Thomisa Talley and her date give the cameras a little attention as they enjoy the music on the dance floor.

The Main Course... Had not yet come, and these student were ready to eat and get to the ball before the clock struck 12:00.

Peek-a-Boo! Some students get camera shy when on the dance floor, such as this student who hides behind her date to avoid the snap.

Are We Having Fun Yet? Meredith students encourage their dates to get into the mood of the dance and have fun.

One Last Snuggle! For this couple, every minute together counts so they embrace the moment right up to the last song.

I Love Beach Music! Shaggin on the beach and shaggin at the White Iris cannot be compared but Jena Leake and her date surely compensate for the difference in atmosphere.

Complete Concentration! For some the art of dancing takes control and concentration. This fellow is intent on getting his moves down, and his date watches as he tries!

Class Acts

You can't explain the feeling or excitement of Cornhuskin to just anybody because they might think you're crazy... bu you're not and neither is the most memorable night you wil ever experience at Meredith College.

As the eventful week leading up to Cornhuskin night kicked off with various point-building activities for each class, the competitive edge in all of us rose to a level of anticipation that could be felt throughout the campus. Even such as Can Art, Scavenger Hunt, Hall Raids, Penny Barrels and class skits revealing each theme proved the strengths and weaknesses of the four classes. Class-unifying events such as the Bonfire and Big-Sis-Little-Sis socials gave students the chance to be with friends and make special Cornhuskin memories. As the big night drew near, the tension in everyone grew and the pressure was doubled. As the freshmen class let everybody know that " You Just Have To Experience It," the sophmore class answered them with "We'll Tell You a Tale."

The juniors decided to "Take Three" while the seniors cheered on their "Final Countdown." Throughout the night each class followed their themes and based their performances on the meaning of the theme.

Once again, the seniors prevailed with a first place finish, but the juniors put up a tough fight and came in second wit outstanding effort. It was a disappointing year for the sophomore class who finished fourth behind the enthusiasti freshmen who were determined to finish third. The night had its ups and downs for some classes, but overall another fabulous Cornhuskin memory was made and etched into Meredith history.

The Junior Bunch! A crowd of eager juniors holds up their theme, "Take Three," and enjoys the rest of the parade as the seniors make their march.

Partners in Crime! Alyson Bartlett and Ashley Davis took charge and led Meredith through another exciting Cornhuskin. Thanks to their enthusiasum and dedication, Cornhuskin was better than ever.

We're Ready for Action! The freshmen class made quite an impact as they experienced Cornhuskin of 1994. Although new and somewhat unfamiliar to the events, the class of 1998 rose to the occasion and showed their true and talented colors.

"Take Three!" During the Junior's skit, they took three all the way to a second place finish.

Suey! One of the most amusing events during Cornhuskin is the ever popular Hog Calling. During this time each class presents a crazy skit with a crazy twist of character. Every participant must wear a pig nose to add to the overall pig atmosphere.

Starlight, Starbright! Hollace Dowdy dazzled everyone with her twinkling Tall Tale which represented the senior class. Her witty wording left a famous mark on Cornhuskin night.

Double Trouble! The junior class re gave everyone a scare as they came i Cornhuskin with a powerful drive to w The class leaders gave all their time a effort to making their theme the best, a it really paid off.

We'll Tell You a Tale! The class of 1997 revealed their theme to all of Merdith College and spiced up their presentation with an array of festive colors.

Strike a Pose! A few skit members of the junior class thought they would get a last minute practice in before the real thing took place.

mpion Shucker! The senior repre-ive in Corhuskin managed once to pull a first place finish, but the class prevailed and also received lace.

Father Figure! Dr. Davis showed his love and dedication for the entire senior class throughout Cornhushin with his constant participation and support.

What Cornhuskin is Really All About! With all of the other events that take place throughout the busy week, people sometimes forget that corn is really shucked on Cornhuskin night, but that's just Meredith's little secret.

"You Just Have To Experience It!" The freshmen theme fit them to a "T" because they did experience it to the fullest and, managed to be very successful for their first time out.

Say Cheese! Members of the sophomore class skit give us a sneak preview of the costumes they will be wearing during their performance.

Juniors Rock! When you're good, you want everybody to know it. This junior knows her class rocks and expresses her enthusiasm with her personalized junior sign.

Everybody Together Now! The sophomore class shares their singing ability with the other classes, and Hillary West and Meredith Russell lead the pact.

Let's Wing it! The Wings program at Meredith has shown that it plays a vital role in campus life. Members of Wings came out for Cornhuskin and gave everybody a laugh with their creative skit.

100% Participation! Even the judges for Cornhuskin got caught up into the mood of the night by dressing up in various costumes.

Boo! As the judges tallied the numbers, the crowd took a breather from the jam packed night. These seniors hoped their class would shine through in the end.

Role Reversal! Teachers and faculty members at Meredith College get to cater to the students' needs on Cornhuskin night by making breakfast for everybody that wants to get energy for the parties to come.

Give Me a J! Different groups of juniors made their own signs or posters to add to the impact of their entrance.

board! The traditional entrance for nior class is never very traditional. ass of 1995 decided to parade in on buses, jeeps, and fancy cars.

Angel in the Centerfold! Angel mascot Christian Hunt feasts on the foot-long hot dogs offered at the Pre-Cornhuskin picnic.

Soft and White! The junior class representative led her class to victory in the Tall Tale category. She used thematic dialogue that won the crowd and judges over.

There's No Place Like Campus

The core of all Meredith activities and functions begins with a simple but complex part of Meredith College and that is residence life! Most students that attend Meredith for four years remain on campus moving from Vann, Stringfield and Carroll for their freshman year, Brewer and Faircloth for their sophomore stay, Poteat and Barefoot for their next to last year, and then Heilman for the final frontier. The International House also provides housing for the International students and others who want to be exposed to different nationalities. By living on campus, students get a chance to make strong friendships that last forever. Many memories are made each day while living on campus. Students can reflect on their college life and remember their friends and experiences in the dorms as some of the most exciting.

The rooms in the various dorms are decorated with each individual's personal belongings and preferences. Most of the rooms are arrayed with pictures all over the walls, desks, dressers, and various other forms of art.

Throughout the year, students enjoy such activities as Cornhuskin and Stunt which are held on the heart of campus. Because of this, students are able to get involved and do things that only residents can do. The privileges and advantages of living on campus are endless. With the convenience of being extremely close to classroom buildings, having a cafeteria that serves three full meals, and all of the fun one could possibly imagine, residence life seems to be the best way to go.

Improvements are taking place all the time, such as the addition to the gym, which is a haven for Meredith workout girls, and the Ledford Building, where students can enjoy modern classrooms and interesting classes. The campus is getting better all the time and residents get "a home away from home."

Jennifer Baines

Secret Sisters Always Come Through! During the holidays, many of the residence halls participate in secret sister activities by surprising their secret sis with notes and gifts. There is usually a gathering where everybody reveals her own identity. During a hall party, this happy student shows off her gift.

It Must Be A Special Occasion! This is not a typical room found on the Meredith campus, but when celebrating a birthday or other special event, this is the norm.

All American Workout! Meredith students have always worked hard to stay in shape. With the new and improved weight room on campus, students have fun and get a great workout at the same time.

Casting Votes! During elections, students get very involved in choosing the best candidate for the position. Ashley Peay and Rebecca Sweeny inform the students.

Campus Diversity! Students from the International House feast on a picnic during a warm sunny day at Meredith.

A Home Away From Home

A significant group of Meredith students that bring variety and fun onto the Meredith campus are the commuters. Although commuters are just as important as residents in the Meredith community, they are often not informed properly of upcoming events and activities. Therefore, the commuters are pulling together to become more involved in what is happening on Meredith's campus.

The Association of Meredith Commuters is an organization that links all commuters to the daily "scoops" around campus. This year, the organization prospered with wonderful officers who kept their fellow commuters aware of all important business. The President, Tara Flannagan, took charge while the other officers, Vice President Karen Jones, Secretary Laurie Gray, and Treasurer Tara Estes kept everything else in order.

Most of the commuters mingle in the Cate Center between classes and take advantage of the study rooms offered. They also snack in the Traditions Cafe where they can get a variety of good food. Because the Cate Center is like their "home away from home" on campus, many of the commuters have offered suggestions for improvements that they hope to see in the future. This would not only benefit the commuters but also the residents. One important change that will take place in the '95-'96 school year will be the addition of mailboxes for the commuters so they will be able to receive up to date newsletters and campus information. This is definitely a start toward the overall involvement of Meredith College commuters. The commuters continue to play a vital role in the development and vitality of the college, and grow in numbers every year.

Jennifer Baines

mmuters Galore! Between classes edith commuters flock to the Cate ter to relax, watch television, and ew notes for the next class.

d Food And Good Friends! A few of commuters get together outside of s to enjoy a dinner out on the town.

Study Hall! These particular students find a quiet area in the Cate Center to compare notes and add to them.

Complete Solitude! Sometimes it is better to study alone than with a group which is exactly what this student does with her extra time.

A Year Filled With Excitement

In order to unite students and faculty on campus during th busy week, convocations are held throughout the year t provide valuable information on a variety of topics for th Meredith Community. Professor of English, Eloise Grathwoh took charge of the 1994-1995 schedule of events and generate an abundance of interest and excitement by sending out letter about upcoming topics and a calendar of convocations.

August 29, 1995, marked the opening convocation held i Jones Auditorium which, was a time for the audience to spen "An Hour With the Faculty." The main purpose of the firs convocation was to outline what obstacles the new year migh bring and how to tackle each situation in a fast and positiv way. The second convocation focused particularly on Meredit students as Susan Bordo, Professor of Philosophy at the Uni versity of Kentucky, spoke on her topic, "Minding the Body Interpreting the Cult of Slenderness." Bordo examined th attitudes toward fat, eating and hunger in today's society, an the pressures on women to be thin. She also addressed eatin disorders. The third convocation for the fall semester feature Professor James Johnson who spoke on stock and bond mar kets and saving plans.

The spring semester was filled with many interestin convocations including the Founder's Day Convocatio presented by Edan Williams whose speech, "Honor/Grea Riches and Precious Ointment," inspired everyone. Next th one women show presented by Miss Barbara Hird, celebrate the life of Queen Elizabeth I. The Association of Black Awarenes sponsored Paula Larke who titled her convocation, "Palaver In March, Quinn Howkesworth gave a dramatic productio entitled, "Mistress of the Moors-Life of Charlotte Bronte," an finally the highlight of the year came when Dr. Arun Gandh grandson of Mohandas Ghandi and Director of the M.K Institute for the study of nonviolence, addressed the Meredit community. Gandhi spoke on the topic "Nonviolence o Nonexistence: Options for the 21st Century." Throughout hi address, Gandhi quoted the wisdom of his grandfather, an also what he considered to be "The Sins," which were, "scienc without humanity, worship without sacrifice, politics withou principles, commerce without morality, wealth without work and pleasure without confidence." Dr. Arun Gandhi mad quite an impact on the audience and after the convocation, h answered questions for those who were interested in learnin more about his life.

With the help of Dr. Grathwohl and an exciting schedule o events, convocation proved to be a great success!

Jennifer Baines

"Nonviolence or Nonexistence..." was the topic of Dr. Arun Gandhi's address to the Meredith community. Here he speaks with people after the convocation.

Elizabeth R Lives On! Miss Barbara Hird presented a one woman show on the life of Queen Elizabeth I and impressed everyone with her unique performance.

A Mind of Her Own! Paula Larke was the speaker sponsored by the Association for Black Awareness and the symbol of a strong and independent woman of the '90's.

Meredith Pride! Although the Celebration on Mererdith Pride was not considered a convocation, the event was historic for Meredith College. On this special day, Govenor Jim Hunt spoke in praise of the successful completion of the college's 10.6 million dollar Second Century Campaign. In fact, an amount of 11.8 million dollars was reached in a short period of only three years. The money has been spent on the Ledford Building, dining hall, International House, and the fitness center. Not only do these renovations benefit the students, but also the campus as a whole. Govenor Hunt spoke with students after Meredith Pride and got a chance to meet Meredith's SGA officers.

Follow That Friend

Every year, MRA sponsors a special event known as Little Friends Weekend that gives little friends, brothers and sisters a chance to stay on campus and spend a weekend with their loved ones attending Meredith College. This is always an exciting time for visitors because they get a glimpse of college life while they stay in the dorms and participate in various events held throughout the campus. The action-packed weekend of March 24-26 arrived just when students were starting to miss their little friends.

The 1995 co-chairs for the weekend were sophomres Megan Schmidt and Hillary West who spent many weeks planning and organizing the schedule of events which were catered to the younger crowd. Throughout the weekend, students and friends enjoyed the star of "Sesame Street, " Big Bird, played by sophomore Martha Huggins who immediately put smiles on every childs' face. All of the children seemed to "Follow That Friend, " which was the "Sesame Street" theme for the weekend. Along with Big Bird, the children and students enjoyed arts and crafts, a Friday night disco, "Sesame Street" Olympics, and an ice cream sundae party. By Sunday afternoon, everyone was worn out from all of the fun but looked foward to the next year so they could do it all again!

As always Little Friends Weekend was a great success - full of many unique activities for Meredith students and their guests.

Jennifer Baines

Tell Me More Big Bird! Sophomore Martha Huggins, disguised as Big Bird, dazzled the little friends.

A Real Trooper! Deborah Handy fills up countless balloons for the balloon toss. The tedious job was worth it to see the smiles on the kid's faces.

My Lil' Friend! Jennifer Micheaux and her lil' friend enjoy their bonding time together.

Join the Congo! Many students and little friends gathered in the gym for a bundle of fun.

Craven A Taste of Spring

Meredith Students were craving one more day of fun and relaxation before the crunch of exams and the hectic rush of summer took its toll. Fun and relaxation is exactly what they got on April 9, 1995 at MEA's annual Spring Fling. Students, friends, and visitors throughout Raleigh congregated on the new and improved island for an action-packed day of feasting, music, and different athletic activities such as sumo wrestling, frisbee, and volleyball. Craven Melon, a local band well-known to the college crowd in Raleigh, rocked the campus with alternative, 90's music.

The Spring Fling happened to fall on a busy weekend for Meredith students. On Friday night, the Spring Formal was held, and the Spring Fling took place on Sunday, which happened to be on the same day as an open house for Meredith students. After hanging out in the dorms, most students and their male guests headed down to the island to mingle. It was almost too much excitement for one weekend.

Jennifer Baines

Craven a Little Music! The attendants at the Spring Fling got a true taste of great music as Craven Melon rocked the campus.

Are We Ready Or What? Junior Shelly Barrick awaits her shot during a game of volleyball, one of the many activities taking place during Spring Fling.

Sumo At Its Best! Senior sumo wrestlers get some sort of an idea of how the real sumo wrestlers compete against each other.

Everybody Is Invited... including pets and other friendly animals that liven up the day and keep people entertained.

MC Students Surfin to Win

The competitive spirit in everyone busted at the seams of Meredith College as students joined their perspective class forces to achieve a status as the 1995 Stunt champions. Students were psyched for an athletic day of point building events that would put one lucky and talented class over the top.

The day began in the courtyard with a picnic to give everyone energy. This is where most students could be seen with their "Surfin MC" T-shirts which was the 1995 theme of Stunt. After feasting on hamburgers and hotdogs, students who chose to participate got ready to compete in dizzy bats, limbo, sponge toss, tug-of-war, three-legged race, and finally the lip sync which concluded the day. The freshman came on strong in the lyp sync with their version of the "Lion King" theme song, "Hakuna Matata." While most of the singers were dressed in colorful flower costumes, the two main characters took on the roles of the singers of those songs in the movie. Needless to say, they got a huge applause. The sophomore class then took center stage with a slightly different approach. They chose to perform "It's A Hard Knock Life" from the movie "Annie." The students appeared in ragged clothes and muddy faces that fit the descriptions of little orphan girls perfectly. With a well-prepared and difficult routine, and unique costumes to match, the sophomore lyp syncers really made their mark... but then the dynamic juniors paraded on stage with a fabulous variety of theme songs from the hottest shows of the 70's and 80's. They used a T.V. prop and did their lyp singing as if they were actually on television. Their costumes fit every show to a "T" and their creativity exploded. The senior class then came out with a similar idea of using a mix of songs to portray their experiences at Meredith through the years. The use of thematic songs to describe unforgetable memories and memories to be had touched everyone, especially the judges. The seniors lyp synched their way to a first place finish. As they closed the Stunt chapter at Meredith, Dr. Davis, the senior advisor was right there with them to share in the victory.

Overall, the day was a victory for everybody because of the effort that was shown by each class and student who participated.

Jennifer Baines

Energy Boosting Picnic! Before the games kicked off during Stunt, students filled their tummies and got energy for the competition that was about to begin.

A Free Meal! Dr. Happer and her granddaughter take part in the Stunt picnic just before everything gets under way.

Senior Portrait! The finale of the senior class lyp sync was topped off with the Senior Class Advisor Dr. Davis, right in the middle showing his support.

Hunger Pains! Students stand in line during Stunt to get some good picnic food before beginning a day of competition.

"It's A Hard Knock Life!" The sophomore lip syncers pose in rags and dirty faces before performing their version of the orphans hard knock life in the movie "Annie."

Spunky and Creative...seniors perform to one of the many songs included in their lyp sync, and put all they have into it.

Come and Knock on Our Door! "Three's Company" imitators of the junior class fit the descriptions perfectly of Jack and Chrissy.

"Happy Days!" The junior rendition of the popular T.V. shows of the 70's and 80's took everybody down memory lane and gave them a laugh at the same time.

A Line of Stars! Freshmen class members spread out to show their true colors and talents with great costumes and moves.

Leaning Tower of Sophomores! The sophomores top off their performance with a tower of bodies and expression of hardship as they portray little orphan girls.

A Black Tie Affair

The Spring Formal had a change in tradition this year after having specifically been held for the juniors and seniors in the past. For the first time, the semiformal for freshman and sophomores and the formal for the juniors and seniors were combined to create one huge good time. With the success of the White Iris Ball and its enormous turn out from all classes, the logical thing to do seemed to be to combine classes again for the formal. Aside from the fact that everyone was invited, the rest of the tradition remained the same. The dance was held at the Civic Center, a shrine for Meredith events, and a perfect place to stop in after dining at fancy restaurants.

The dance was special for all who put on their dancing shoes, but it was even more memorable for the senior class who made the most of their last formal function at Meredith College. This night would become a memory they would never forget.

Thanks to the hard work and dedication of seniors Crystal Howard and Erin Riley, the organization of the dance fell into place. After the big night, students bought formal T-shirts and stood for hours in Belk Dining Hall picking out pictures taken by the professional photographer at the dance. Once again MEA put on a great event and the memories wiil never fade.

The Freshman Bunch! The class of 1998 made a big turnout at the Spring Formal and seemed to enjoy every minute of it.

What A Match! It is always nice to match your date in attire so you can spot him across a crowded room at any moment. This is exactly what Rebecca Finch and her date choose to do.

The Night is Ours! When you're with the one that makes you happy, nothing else seems to matter. This junior and her date get caught up into the romantic mood.

Three's Company! These happy freshmen girls add another picture to their scrapbook of special memories.

Nothing Like True Love! Karen Cordis and her date share an affectionate moment before venturing onto the dance floor.

The Night is Young... for this couple who take a brief second to smile for the professional photographer.

Double Dating! It is always more fun to do things in pairs, especially when going to a Spring Formal. These seniors truly made the best of their last dance.

The More the Merrier! Groups of friends always have a blast when doing things together. For the formal, this group of pals did just that.

Friends Forever! Jennifer Gjetson and Christina Peoples bond at the formal as they get a few free minutes away from their dates.

The Happy Couples! These couples take a moment to get a picture before they get on the dance floor.

Dining Out! Sarah White, Angi Wike, Worthy Baker, Migonne May, and Carrie Martin enjoy a nice evening out before moving on to the dance.

Slow Dancing! The closer the better is what this couple thinks as they slow dance the night away.

The Cream of the Crop

The Student Awards Day held on April 10, 1995 was a time for exceptional students to be recognized for their achievements and success in their particular fields of study. Such students were acknowledged for excelling and setting a strong and positive example for others to follow. Not only were students praised for academic achievements but also for leadership. The Leadership Awards Day proceeded the Academic Awards Day, and on April 24, faculty, friends and family gathered for a morning full of pride. Natural born leaders of different groups and organizations were recognized on this day for their hard work in carrying out necessary tasks and duties as leaders.

The responsibility of choosing those special people who appeared to excel above and beyond the call of duty, was taken on by teachers and other leaders of clubs and organizations who thought their particular nominees were the most dedicated. The process of selecting one or two exceptional people proved to be challenging because of superior academic and leadership skills expressed in so many students at Meredith; however, the task was finally completed and both the Academic and Leadership Awards Days highlighted the cream of the crop.

Before the awards were presented, parents of the recipients were notified so they could share in the special day. Newspapers also received information on the 1995 awards recipients.

The Academic and Leadership Awards Days made all the hard work and dedication throughout the year completely worth the stress and long sleepless nights. By publicly appreciating students for their achievements, the future of Meredith academics and leadership will grow with every year.

Jennifer Baines

The Proud Recipient! Senior Frances Pate proudly stands with her prestigious award presented to her at Awards Day.

The Presenters! A line of presenters at the Leadership Awards Day await their turns to give their recipients the perspective awards.

My Little Girl! Shannon Bizzell hugs her mother who is ecstatic about her award. The rest of the family shares in the moment as well.

Passing on Responsibility! Senior Kelly Formy-Duval passes on her reign as SGA Class President to rising senior June Holland.

The Final Countdown

Baccalaureate Service held on Wednesday, April 26, 1995 was one of the finalizing events signifying the end of the graduating class of 1995's last year as Meredith students. Friends and family and faculty gathered at Jones Chapel to see their loved ones in full graduation attire. Beautiful music presented by Professor and Head of Music, David Lynch, and the Meredith Chorale, filled the chapel as well as inspiring words by Campus Minister, Samuel Carothers. Senior class member and Vice President of the Meredith Christian Association, Jan McNeill, led the scripture reading and prayer.

President John Weems then welcomed and introduced the speaker for the occasion, Paula Clayton Dempsey. Currently Dempsey serves as the Campus Minister for Mars Hill College in North Carolina. Her ministry experience has taken her all across North Carolina as well as out of state. As a devoted pastor and minister, she spoke from her heart. Not only could she relate to the audience on a spiritual level but also on a college level. Dempsey spoke of her own experiences as a graduate of Meredith College and related her speech, "No Longer Servant-But Friends" to the class of 1995 and the memories learned in their four years as students at Meredith College.

After the encouraging sermon from Dempsey, the audience joined in singing Meredith's Alma Mater. Finally everyone stood to sing a special song, "Called as Partners in Christ's Service, " which closed a monumental chapter in the lives of the senior class of 1995. All who watched them grow into strong, independent, and successful Meredith graduates were very proud, happy and thankful.

Jennifer Baines

Singing in a Round! The beautiful music during Baccalaureate could be heard throughout the chapel as students, family, and faculty, joined in.

Getting Everyone's Attention! Paula Clayton Dempsey graced everyone with her positive words and presence. Dempsey is a Meredith Alumna and spoke directly from her experiences during the college years.

Performing for the Crowd! Various members of the musical groups on campus serenade the attendants of Baccalaureate.

One Moment in Time! Everybody managed to find a perfect spot to enjoy the special service.

The March! The Senior class members file into the chapel to begin Baccalaureate services which is one of the final events before graduation.

Once There Was A Daisy...

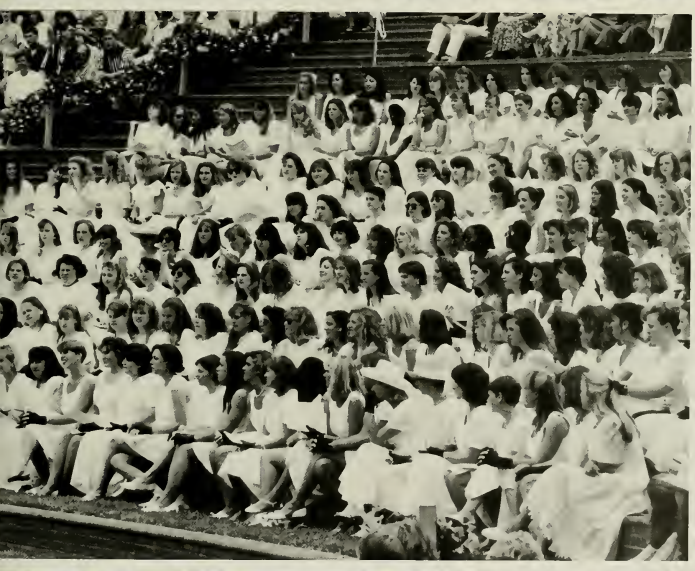
One might think that graduation from college is the ultimate experience in closing four years of hard work and memories, but at Meredith, students get an extra unforgetable day to remember, Class Day. The seniors not only prepare for graduation but also for Class Day held the day before the long awaited moment. May 13, 1995 marked the 94th annual Class Day gatherings where goodbye tears were shed and lifetime bonds were strengthened. The significant theme of the event is the final unity of the Big Sister class of 1995 and their Little Sister class of 1997.

The sophomore class did more than just participate in the actual event, they spent the last weeks of school practicing songs and planning the big day. They rose with the sun Saturday morning to begin picking ivy that later formed two 60-70 foot daisy chains. As the sophomore class filed into the ampitheatre carrying the daisy chains, their angelic white gowns took everyone's breath away. The seniors also wore white and marked their year of graduation by wearing a black glove.

Guests and students were welcomed by senior Jenny Pevehouse who later led the Wishbone Ceremony. After formally welcoming all to the special event, seniors Betsy Trible, Abbey Lanier, Marybeth Baker, and Nicole Bettini took everyone for a stroll down memory lane with the senior class history. The presentation of the class doll, Charlie, was done by senior Shannon Baynor and the presentation of the Cap and Gown passed down to junior Shelly Barrick was done by senior Catherine Davis who also presided over special awards and gifts. Senior Heather Williams awarded the sophomore class and Meredith College a $10,000 scholarship endowment as their class gift and President Weems received the check on behalf of the college. After a day full of memories and presentations, senior Michelle Sharp led everyone in the Alma Mater. The sophomore class then proceeded to file on to the island where the seniors had circled around and formed the year '95 for the graduation year. They serenaded their Big Sisters and then the seniors and sophomores ran together to find their sisters to say goodbye and good luck. It was a day no one would ever forget!

Jennifer Baines

The Panel! Senior class officers are filled with emotions of happiness and sadness as they say their last words to their fellow classmates before graduating from Meredith College.

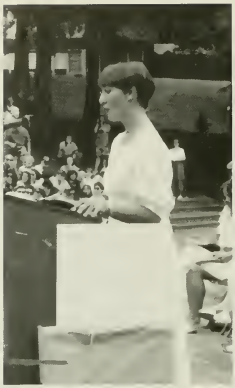


Angels in White! Little and Big Sisters join together for Class Day ceremonies where both classes say their final goodbyes.

This is Your Class Doll! Senior Shannon Baynor makes the presentation of the 1995 class doll, Charlie, who is named after the Senior Class Advisor, Dr. Davis.

Filing in! The Sophomore class files onto the island surrounded by a circle of seniors.

The Formation Begins! Next the sophomore class attempts to form the numbers, '95, which represent the year of graduation for their Big Sisters.



Reminiscing! Senior Betsey Trible shares memories of her class as she spoke of her days as freshman class historian.

True Leaders! Senior Class President Catherine Davis and Senior Class Advisor Dr. Davis exchange a hug and special gift during Class Day.

At the Head of the Class! Sophomore Melinda Wooten starts one side of the daisy chain with the most beautiful flowers found on the front of the chain.

The Completion! '95 is finally formed and the sophomores prepare to place the daisy chain on the ground.

The Parade! Sophomores and seniors run to the chain to get a daisy and to bond one last time.

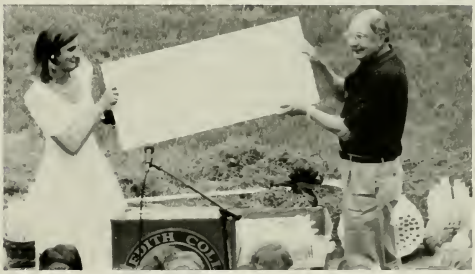
Mucho Money! President Weems accepts the 1995 class gift of $10,000 to better the journey of the sophomore class and Meredith College. Senior Class Treasurer Heather Williams presented the gift to the president.



Senior Sounds! The seniors sing to their little sister class and spark emotions from everyone.

The Daisy Chain! Sophomore students carry their homemade invention of the daisy chain down to the island.

That's All She Wrote

The long awaited day for the senior class of 1995 finally made its way on Sunday, May 14 which happened to be Mothers Day as well. The day proceeded as planned even though most of the scheduled events on the program were drenched by the rainy afternoon. Despite the weather, Meredith College presented 468 diplomas to the proud senior class and somehow this made the gloomy day brighter.

As everybody gathered at the ampitheatre, the day proceeded with the traditional Processional of "Pomp and Circumstance," the welcome by President John Weems, and the scripture and prayer led by Dr. Lyn Aubrecht, Professor of Psychology. The focus of the day was, "The Circle of Spiritual and Intellectual Discovery," which was the Commencement Address given by North Carolina Senator Betsey Lane Cochrane, a 1958 graduate of Meredith College. Because of her success of being the first woman to ever preside over the North Carolina Senate, Cochrane made a great inspirational impact on the lives of every graduate. Cochrane praised the graduates and emphasized the importance of their accomplishments in college, and the future results that would come from their hard work after these four years. She also recalled many experiences during her years at Meredith College that the graduates could identify with. Cochrane's address proved to be very significant to all who attended graduation.

The presentation of graduates by Vice President and Dean of the College, Allen Burris, diplomas by President Weems, and Bibles by Chairman of the Meredith College Board of Trustees, Claude B. Williams, were cut short by the rain but the graduates knew they had finally reached their goal. After the ceremony the graduates turned their rings to face out into the world and the true test of strength and independence began. The 94th Commencement ceremony may have fallen on a day that was a little under the weather but it will never be forgotten.

-416 Graduates.

-53 Graduate Students; 44 received MBA, 5 received Education, 4 received Music.

-197 Bachelor of Arts Degrees.

-208 Bachelor of Science Degrees.

-12 Bachelor of Music Degrees.

Jennifer Baines

Nonconforming! Every once in a while, a student will decorate her cap to stand out and to be creative. This senior definitely stands out from the other graduates.

Tagging Along! This proud graduate shares her excitement with her little one who is in awe of the whole day.

The Great Walk! Jeannie Morelock and other happy graduates make their way to the diploma.

The Ultimate Leader! Dr. Gary Walton, Professor of English, led everyone to their places and carried the traditional College Mace.

The Main Event! North Carolina Senator, Betsey Cochrane, spoke at the 94th Commencement ceremony and inspired every graduate with her touching speech.

Good Luck Charm! This happy graduate carries her good luck charm as a token of all her accomplishments through four years.

"Raindrops Keep Falling On My Head!" Rainshowers during Graduation did not stop anybody from getting their diplomas. Although the day was gloomy, the spirits were bright.

The Confirmation! This senior crosses over from graduate to alumna as she receives her Bible from Claude B. Williams.

100% Success! As the graduates stand ready to turn their rings to face out, the anticipation of the future is thought in their minds.

Another Year! President Weems and Dean Burris share in the 94th Commencement activities and prepare to do their part to make graduation even more special.

The Music Maestros! Students from the music department await their turn to receive their diplomas.

I Did it! SGA Class President, Kelly Formy-Duval walks proudly with a diploma in her hand and a big smile on her face.

INFOR

Organizations

When we all began looking for colleges, we each had different things to influence us. Meredith's small size allows all students the opportunity to take part in more than just the classroom. From the very start of your freshmen year to the last day of your senior year, leadership positions are available to all students. Though you may not serve as a class officer, Meredith offers many other opportunities. Those who are interested in working for the benefit of school and others can look into SGA, Honor Council, and RHB. If you like publications, the offices of the Herald, Acorn, and Oak Leaves are the place to be. Do you excel in any particular areas? Then you may be asked to join any of the honor societies on campus. And different clubs are offered in just about any area from foreign language to career interest groups to departmental groups. There is something for everyone to get involved with. So whether it be a club you have been involved in for years or something completely new, Meredith has just the right combination to get you involved in something great!

Sports

Meredith college is a perfect example of what class unity and school pride is all about. A select group of faculty and students that constantly demonstrate this belief and quality are the individual sports teams and their coaches. In order to be successful and competitive, a group must work together to define themselves as a unified team. Once this goal is accomplished through endless practices, meetings, and overall love for the sport, a team can then strive for the top and hope for nothing less than the best.

The Soccer, Volleyball, Basketball, Tennis, Softball, Dance, and Aqua Angels teams are the Meredith Community's link to excitement, culture, action, and stress. All of these feelings and qualities can be sparked when pulling for the home team. It is easy to get caught up into the mood of the crowd when Meredith's team is winning or losing, and that very fact is what keeps a team and its fans wanting more.

With the determination that each team and its coach puts forth every season, that in itself creates a winning record.

Turning Over a New Leaf

A Growing Effort

Soccer!

Go Meredith Soccer! The 1994 Soccer Team in its second season, had a great year. Coming back after its first year was exciting and promising with a larger team and a longer and more challenging season. With one senior, four juniors, three sophomores, and a slew of freshmen, we were ready to play. After fifteen games and an opening scrimmage, the team as well as the individual players improved over the two and a half month season. After a win in the scrimmage, the Meredith Soccer team went on to win five additional games. The overall record at the end of the season was 6-10, an improvement over the previous year.

The season was a great success and progress was made in each game. Due to unfortunate injuries, several players were forced to the bench toward the end of the season. However, we ended up winning the last game of the season going out with a sense of satisfaction and accomplishment. The team had lots of fun together and united on long road trips as well as on the weekend trip to Brevard College and Spartanburg Methodist College. Once again this year, the team learned a lot. Some games were more challenging than others but all taught very good lessons.

Overall it was an awesome year and next year looks even more promising. We will miss graduating senior, Sharon Cobough but also look foward to the talent of incoming freshmen. Thanks for a great season Coach Cornejo!

I'll Get It! Junior Scottie Eustis fights to get control of the ball before the opponent reaches it.

A Team Outing! The 1995 soccer team had the exciting opportunity of taking road trips for certain games during the season. This was a perfect time for the team to bond and improve skills at the same time.

Smash Hit

Volleyball!

Our Volley ball team met this fall with a lot of new faces. We had the largest team ever with eight freshman, four sophomores, one junior, and two seniors. We spent most of the season learning about each other, recovering from three major injuries to starting players, and striving to mesh as a cohesive unit. On many occasions, I saw different players "step up" in key situations to make a difference. As a coach, I saw a great deal of potential "peeking out" from time to time and I look foward to what the future will hold. I am proud to say by seasons end, we were able to accomplish our goal of working as a team and played exceptionally well in the Womens' College Tournament.

The Most Improved Award is given to Nicole Norton. The Coach's Award for Outstanding Performance is given to Cathy Garrett. The Most Valuable Player Award is given to Jennifer Thompson and Chrissy Griffin who are also our seniors.

A Group Effort! Members of the volleyball team make a strong effort to get the ball over and get it back over.

A Trooper on the Court! This determined player is not going to let any shot come her way without doing all she can to prevent it.

Steady and Alert! The team awaits a powerful spike from the opponents and spreads themselves out on the court so they do not miss anything that comes their way.

On Guard! The team prepares for a slam from the opponents and is successful in stopping a potential point.

Net Friendly! In order to score a vital point, one must reach with all her might to set the ball safely over the net.

Slammin Angels

Basketball!

Under the direction of Coach Carl Hatchell, the Meredith College Women's Basketball team finished up the season with a very encouraging record.

The team was fairly young this year with a total of six freshmen who brought a new vitality to the quality and strength of the team. Returning to the team were four sophomores and one senior. The mix of ages and abilities balanced out the team on a whole leading them to an impressive season. The team came within one game of a winning season and definitely have a lot to look foward to in the upcoming year with almost all of the members returning. Coach Hatchell stated that the team "made great strides during the season." This was proven by the win at the Wesleyan Women's College Invitational Tournament in Atlanta, Georgia.

The 1994-1995 season was very productive for sophomore Sarah Bennett, who was named the Most Valuable Player of the year. The entire team worked extremely hard to achieve a winning record throughout the season With the dedication put forth by each menber, not only was a solid team created, but also a successful one.

Tennis!

This year marked one of Meredith's finest seasons under the direction of third year coach Melinda Campbell. This young team dominated Division III Women's College Competition and one Division II team. Tough losses to nationally ranked University of the South, and to several Division II powerhouses, provided the needed experience to build the Meredith Program.

The team graduated one senior, Shina Suzuki, whose leadership helped anchor this young talented team. The program stands on the horizon of hopeful success thanks to the dedication and sacrifice of many.

The Tennis team participated in three tournaments this season including the Pheiffer Doubles Tournament which was rained out, the Meredith Invitational Tournament with Queens College as its winner, and finally, the Rolex Regionals. Sarah Huffman advanced in this tournament through the first round.

Award winners for the 1994-1995 year were senior Shina Suzuki who received Most Valuable Player, freshman Sarah Huffman who received Outstanding Performance, and also freshman Dorothy Livesay who received the Coach's Award.

With an 11-9 record, the Meredith Tennis Team finished on a very positive note.

Softball

The 1994-1995 Meredith Softball team came on strong and determined to win. They did just that with a winning record of seven wins and four losses. Under the direction of Coach Carl Hatchell, the team remained powerful and unified throughout the season.

The team was evenly distributed in class participation. Returning for another year of excitement were four seniors, four juniors, and four sophomores. Adding to the character and talent of the team were three enthusiastic freshmen. The team appeared to be very grounded and stable and the new addition to the team along with experienced players made for a very productive year.

Overall the Softball team entered two tournaments and finished in the top four in both of them. This was an outstanding way to complete the already successful season. Thanks to dedicated students and a winning coach the team accomplished their goals, and will work even harder in the upcoming year to set more and reach those as well.

Upper Body Strength! In order to get someone out, the strength of the catcher is vital because she must have the speed to get the ball anywhere.

Batter, Batter, Batter... Junior Amber Routten steps up to bat and prays that this will be the one that goes out of the park.

It's A Grounder! Stray balls can always be found flying or rolling around the field and players must be alert such as this member, for anything.

A Slider... seems like it may not be enough for a safe call. The Meredith player is just too quick.

Smart Bunt! Sometimes it pays to be eaky and smooth on the field. This ayer chooses to bunt the ball to throw er opponent off base.

I'm Open! First base player sees that she has a potential out coming her way so she stands anxiously awaiting the ball.

Culture at its Best

Aqua Angels!

This year members of Aqua Angels started the fall early and eager. The first performance, for the swimmers was presented to the new freshmen class during orientation week. Over the summer, in preparation for this performance Aqua Angels mentally and for some physically practiced their routine from last year's Spring Show--Well one thing is for sure the angels arrived on campus before the dorm opened with all their worldly belongings--excited and happy to see each other and fun was had by all.

The joy and love of the Holiday season inspired the Aqua Angels to present Hark and Herald Angels Swim. Members of the team performed five new routines which represented many of our favorite Christmas songs.

Although the Fall and Christmas performances were fun and challenging for the swimmers the final performance of the year entitled "Our Favorite Things" brought them the most satisfaction and reward. the Angels presented nine routines creatively choregraphed by several Aqua Angels. In this years Spring Show, the Aqua Angels demonstrated a HIGHER level of skill, sychronization, and creativity than in years past. Aqua Angels you should be proud.

Sometimes it is extremely hard to let go of the graduating Seniors and make room for the new freshman. This year is such a year. Aqua Angels have 2 Outstanding graduating seniors, Carol White and Ali Sindelir.

Carol White, president of the Aqua Angels for the past two years, is the recipient of the coaches award for 1995. Ali Sindelir is known by her teammates as a outstanding performer, choreographer, and a overall team builder. This makes it easy to understand why she was voted by her teammates to receive the award for the most valuable player in 1993.

Carol Brown

Honors! Carol White and Ali Sindelir are two outstanding Aqua Angels who have played a valuable part on the team.

The 1995 Aqua Angels

Water Bound! Senior Allison Sindelir can be found in the water just about all of the time along with her other teammates.

Dance!

At the heart of every great dance performance at Meredith is the Meredith Dance Theatre. To be able to provide culture and expose the campus to different types of choreographed dance is the ultimate goal of the company and every performance is created with these intentions.

The Meredith Dance Theatre is a performance ensemble headed by co-artistic directors, Alyson Colwell-Waber and Annie Elliott. Members are selected for the theatre through audition, and included in the group are dance majors and non-majors alike.

The Meredith Dance Theatre is a community of goal-oriented women who are passionate about dance and performance. The theatre also provides an opportunity to express feelings and work with a variety of women in a creative atmosphere.

Alyson Colwell-Waber says it best, "at the heart of Meredith Dance Theatre is the group energy which feeds the creative process and results in a unified and dynamic collaboration... also known as dance! We wouldn't be who we are with out each other."

As one can see, the Meredith Dance Theatre is a tight group of students and dedicated dance professors that interact and perform as one solid and completely unified team. Not only does one watch individual work on improving her skills and abilities, but she also works to improve the overall productivity of the company. This is a symbol of true sportsmanship on a functioning team as well as a symbol of pure love for the art of the physical and emotional aspects of dance.

With every year, the Meredith Dance Theatre grows stronger and larger in number. The popularity of such a beautiful sport is increasing and the prestigous reputation of the professors and students at Meredith attract more and more interested students every year. Because it is such a select group of students and faculty, the friendships and sense of bonding is even more evident.

Academics

Teachers are our link to a successful future and positive experience once out of college. Without teachers, we would never advance emotionally, physically, but most importantly, intellectually. They not only teach us academics, but also how to be strong and independent as students and as adults in the ever-changing world of technology.

The professors at Meredith focus on our individual growth as students and women, and by doing so, inspire us to strive for knowledge. In any given department on campus, a Meredith student can find a professor who cares about how she progresses academically, as well as a friend who cares about her questions, problems, and accomplishments.

Being a professor at Meredith College is a plus in itself because of the colleges' outstanding reputation as a strong and prestigious academic institution, but ultimately it is the individual professors who make that quality of Meredith possible. It is also the professors who attract college-bound students to attend and continue to stay for the duration.

Turning Over a New Leaf

Express Yourself

For the talented and creative side in all of us, the Music, Speech, Theatre, and Art Departments can really help us express ourselves in ways we never thought would be possible. With excellent professors and a wide variety of classes and majors in each department, it is impossible not to get a top education and have fun doing it at the same time.

Music, Speech, Theatre, & Art

The Music, Speech, and Theatre Department, headed by Dr. David Lynch ,produces many talented students who focus on their particular interest and excel in it. Students who major in Music can concentrate in almost any instrument including voice. Some students choose to go into performance and others choose to get their teaching certificate. Music majors are not only required to perfom but also attend performances from other students, faculty, or guests. They are also expected to take music theory and history courses to be more exposed to the development and advancement of all types of music.

Speech offers students the opportunity to learn more about their performance abilities and speaking qualities. Students interested in Speech major in Speech Communications which is a fairly new major. Sometimes students who choose this major also select a minor to better enhance their communication skills.

Theatre majors experience a performance aspect of Meredith that not only helps them to become more confident, but also prepares them for the opportunity to become professional actors. Like Music majors, theatre majors are required to attend performances throughout the year, which may or may not be held on campus.

The Art Department, headed by Dr. Rebecca Bailey, offers students a chance to work with their hands, with computers, or with photography material that may later open many doors in the highly advncedtechnological world. Art majors may choose to concentrate in Studio Art, Illustration, Graphic Design, Art History, or Art Education. Therefore, students can pick their specialty and focus soley on that aspect of the art major. During the summer months, the Art Department offers an extensive study abroad program which exposes students to different cultures as well as different types of classes. The five week program directed by Ms. Maureen Banker, includes a stay in Borgoandbarga along with various trips throughout Florence, Rome, and Lucca.

Carry Your Voices! The Music department prospers every year with talented faculty and students, but this is only possible through the numerous hours both teachers and students practice.

Is It Done Yet? There is so much more than just the final stage production that is presented to an audience. People behind the scenes must be willing to devote time to building the stage that grounds the overall performance. This student sees the whole picture and works hard to get it completed.

Making the Final Copy! The Meredith Video Club has many students who are talented in editing and piecing together videos such as Stunt and Cornhuskin.

To Your Health

Physical Education, Health, & Dance

Any college has a Physical Education Department because it is a general education requirement, however, few schools have a Health, Physical Education, and Dance Department that reaches out to so many students like the Meredith College department does. The department does offer the traditional Health and Physical Education classes, but it exceeds those standards by far.

Added to the curriculum this year was a Country Line Dancing class taught by Melinda Campbell and a Teaching and Coaching Team Sports class for Physical Education minors. Not only was the department productive in expanding the overall course offerings, but also active in the local community. The department sponsored Dance for Heart, which benefitted the American Heart Association, and hosted the Fall Invitational Tennis Tournament.

Dance at Meredith is not just a class, it is a beautiful form of art. This is proven by the Meredith Dance Theatre and Meredith Performs. The students dazzle and amaze the audience with creative and breathtaking performances throughout the year. Under the direction of instructors Alyson Colwell-Waber and Annie Elliott, the program continues to grow and prosper into a well-known company.

The Meredith Aqua Angels have the audience holding their own breaths as they watch in amazement as the Angels demonstrate their strength and skills in the water. The Aqua Angels spend countless hours practicing and perfecting their underwater moves, and instructor Carol Brown pushes them to be their best.

To the advantage of more than the Health, Physical Education, and Dance Departments, all Meredith students are benefitting from the new weight rooms and dance and aerobics studios. No longer is Physical Education just a section of mandatory classes, it is a section of instruction that provides Meredith with great variety end enjoyment.

In "Solo Flight!" Dance instructor Alyson Colwell-Waber not only teaches but also performs. This segment is known as "Tightrope."

...In Any Language

English & Foreign Language

The English Department may be tough but the knowledge and skills gained from majoring in English are priceless. For students who are not majors, the general education requirements are English 111, British Authors, and American Literature. In order to pass 111, students must first pass the competency test so that they may go on to the next level. Students who choose to major in English face such classes as Shakespeare and Chaucer which expose the students to different types of old English. Dr. Louise Taylor heads the English Department and experienced many wonderful changes and additions in the department. Dr. Taylor is also in charge of the internships that students participate in through the English department. The Department of English continues to expand with the curriculum and with the growing interest of students who want to go into a field of English after college.

The Foreign Language Department at Meredith also continues to grow with every year. "We are good in what we're doing," proclaims Dr. Burgunde Winz about the Foreign Language Department. Consistently each year, the department backs up that students participate in range of activities. This year the Spanish and joined the board as Margaret Fugate, who teaches an adjunct faculty member.

Each year an impressive number of students choose to study abroad putting to use what they have learned at Meredith. Students that make the decision to study abroad do it mainly to enhance their knowledge of the languages.

Each language has an organization in which sponsored activities take place throughout the year. Each year the department tries to change the curriculum according to student interests. This year the department offered an Introduction to French Literature, a German Translation course, an Advanced Grammar course, and Spanish Poetry and Theatre courses. The highlight of the department is the Fabulous Foreign Follies in which students of all languages and all levels perform skits, dances, songs , and poetry.

Do You Speak English? No, in this foreign language class the students are encouraged to use as much of the language orally and writen as possible.

Making Sense of Science

Biology & Chemistry

The Chemistry Depatment was full of big events and new happenings this year at Meredith. Dr. Charles Lewis was able to attend a NMR (Nuclear Magnetic Resonance) course at Georgia Tech in Atlanta, Georgia. NMR is used to determine structures of molecules and the equipment used to study the structures requires its own room. The NMR course was sponsored by the National Science Foundation, and it later prepared Dr. Lewis to assist others in using the new NMR spectometer at Meredith.

The Department would like to extend their congratulations to Jamie Owensby, a senior at Meredith College, who received the Glaxo Women in Science Scholarship and the American Institute of Chemists' Outstanding Senior Award at the Awards Day Ceremony.

The Chemistry and Physical Science Department is headed by Dr. Reg Shiflett. Other professors include Mr. Vergean Birkin, Dr. Karen Hassett, and Dr. Charles Lewis.

The Biology Department, likewise, is trying to keep up with the ever-changing world of Biology 325 and Environmental Science. The department added year. Also available is a new Science to the catalog just this year. The reason for this increasing student interest and concentration in Environmental now available in Environmental development is because of Biology is definitely on the the escalating number of careers Swab took a group of students Science. Russia so that they could study move. Last summer, Dr. Janice to a previously unopened part of plants and animals in that particular area. During the spring, Dr. Larry Grimes took a group of students to the Duke Marine Laboratory located in Beafort, NC, to study the marine life in the ocean estuaries.

Dr. Deborah Smith heads the Biology and Health Sciences Department and Dr. Larry Grimes, Dr. Robert Reid, Dr. Janice Swab, Dr. Elizabeth Wolfinger, and Dr. Francie Cuffney add to the wonderful faculty.

Teaching Others to Think

Education & Psychology

With Meedith College having such a large population of future teachers, the Education Department is something we hol very dear. This year, Dr. Jane Gleason joined Meredith's staff she teaches courses such as Educational Psychology as well a supervising student teaching, which is required by all future teachers. The Meredith Education Department has collaborati agreements with thirteen Wake County Schools including Bugg Elementary, which is a new magnet school in Wake County. Th strongest part of the program is the agreement with area public schools which allows Meredith students to establish relationship with their schools before their actual student teaching begin Students are able to be participants as well as observers before they tak a hand at teaching. The more time they spend in class prior to teachin the more effective they will be.

While catering to the needs of the current students of Meredit College, the Psycology Department is encountering many new thing They are just settling into the new Ledford building and are looking plans for the future. The Psycology Department has been very bus keeping up with students' interests. A special offer to students this yea was the oportunity for internships. These internships were based o students' schedules and allowed the participants a wide range studies. The department saw a great response as participatio increased from fourteen in the Fall to forty in the Spring. Hopefull some of these opportunities could result in full time employment i the future.

The Psycology Department also sponsors the Psycology Club, whic hosts numerous activities throughout the year. A Speci Populations Dance was held in conjunction with Raleigh Parks an Recreation and was directed towards the mentally handicappe inthe area. The club jointly sponsored, along with NCSU, the Carolina's Conference, the largest undergraduate conference in th United States. They also sponsored Psych Week here at Meredith when speakers from different areas presented topics such a Dream Analysis, Autism, and Possible Careers in Psycology.

Professor and Actor! Professor Jack Huber can usually be found in the Ledford Building but if he is not there, you might want to check Jones Auditorium where he recently made his acting debut in Anything Goes!

The Key to Our Future... is the well being of the young children in the world. We may not be able to make a difference in every child's life but we can start by making an impact locally. This Meredith student gets first hand experience in helping little people.

This stubborn computer... is giving this psychology student a hard time but Professor Rosemary Hornak assists her in figuring out the problem.

Behind the Podium! Not only does Dr. Lyn Aubrecht give an enlightening psychology lecture, but also a meaningful and sincere speech at graduation.

Something Old, Something New

The Religion and Philosophy Department is quite unique within the Meredith curriculum. Students must take a certain number of hours of Religion and Philosophy classes as a general requirement , but they often far exceed the required load for jus the enjoyment of the professors and diverse topics. Students are given a broad and deep understanding of Biblical and ancien literature. Most students choose to take Introduction to Biblical Literature to fill their general requirement, where they gain ar understanding of the Old and New Testament. Students have the opportunity to take upper-level classes in various areas o Religion. This year, students had the chance to learn about various denominations as well as cults, which helped them to gain a better understanding of their own faith along with that of others in the Summer course of Religion in America. Greco-Roman Religion and Literature was a new course offered this year as a 900-level class Some students had special opportunities to hear specia speakers from as far away as Loyola University in California.

Religion & Philosophy, Sociology & Sociology

While students may learn about the past in Relgion, they are also able to continue their learning by attending classes in Sociology o Social Work that allow them to learn about the patterns of our society and how we interact with others. Along with the Psychology and Education majors , Sociology majors may also find that most o their time is spent in the new Ledford building.

This year, students were able to gain a different insight from Karen Glumm, a new professor of Sociology. Dr. Glumm was able to begin her first year at Meredith in full force by teaching Socia Research, Ethnic Relations, and Intoduction to Sociology.

Not only did the students get the chance to grow and learn more socially, the professors got that chance also by attending the Socieity of Humanistic, professional sociology meeting. This meeting provided valuable material that they in their classroom discussions.

At Home and Abroad

Pages and pages of notes..."Could you please slow down"... Informal and stimulating discussions... A concern for studen awareness... "Don't forget the Celts"... Impersonating Mae West.... and FDR... singing along with The Ride of the Valkyries in class.. Making History and Politics Come Alive!!!!

...A world of new opportunities is yours through Meredith's History and Politics Department. Meredith's Department o History and Politics prepares students for diverse occupation requiring cultural, social, and political knowledge of national an international affairs. With four majors, American Civilization History, International Studies, and Political Studies, a great variety i provided and can be packaged with a career-oriented track, such a Museums, Business, Education, or Law, for a great background in career or a graduate study.

Home Economics, History & Politics

Students are encouraged to look into joining the History an Politics Club in an effort to increase their knowledge of the past and th future beyond the classroom. Those who excel in their classes may b eligible to join Phi Alpha Theta, the International History Honor Society

The Home Economics Department offers many diverse areas of study including interior Design, Child Development, Food and Nutrition, and Clothing and Fashion Merchandising. Th Interior Design program was recently accreditied by FIDER fo six years. Meredith is one of only two colleges in North Carolina to b accredited by FIDER.

Child Development remains the largest major within the hom Economics Department with most students choosing to earn K- licensure. Home Economics majors usually choose secondary licensure

The American Dietetic Association recently approved a new Dietetic Internship for Meredith, the first in North Carolina This means that students may complete the requirements to become registered dieticians following the completion of a Nutritio major and the Play V Program at Meredith. Students may also choose a concentration in Food Service Management.

A new design concentration was recently added to the Clothing and Fashion Merchandising major, thereby giving student another option to choose in addition to Fashion Merchandising.

Postcards From the Edge! Dr. Barbara True-Weber shows other faculty members pictures in her scrapbook of exciting events.

A Classroom Setting! As his students jot notes quickly and try to grasp his lectures, Dr. Michael Novak speaks with emphasis and enthusiasm.

A True Corn Shucker! Tomorrow she will be Dr. Carolyn Happer, history professor, but tonight she is going to be a champion cornshucker at Cornhuskin.

Making Things Count

Making things count is exactly what the Meredith College Math and Computer Science Department wants to do for students. In addition to the regular full time staff, the department has a number of adjunct faculty members who come in to tea a variety of courses. This year the mathematics side catered to both current and future students, as they sponsored Sonya K. D for high school students. Meanwhile, excitement came through in the introduction of one hour modules in the Computer Scienc curriculum. Each module meets for one-third of a semester and the another module begins. Canaday Math/Computer Science Clu allows all students in both areas the opportunity for enrichmen through guest speakers and regularly-scheduled meetings.

Math & CSC Business & Economics

This has been an exciting year for the Business and Economic Department. A variety of new classes were offered such a Consumer Behavior and International Business an marketing classes. The department hosts a special Halloween party a well as having many other club sponsored events and meetings. A students are eligible for and encouraged to join a department club like the Accounting Association. The big news this yea is that, for the first time, Accounting is being offered as a major a opposed to being a concentration as it has been in the past. This ne major has brought happiness to those who were concentrating Accounting. Like most majors, Accounting requires a lot concentration and time, and having a good ability to work with numbe does not hurt. Students who intend to major in Accounting are not on required to classes such as Beg. Accounting and Intermedia Accounting, but they are also required to take Federal Tax , a class that requires the knowledge of the tax laws.

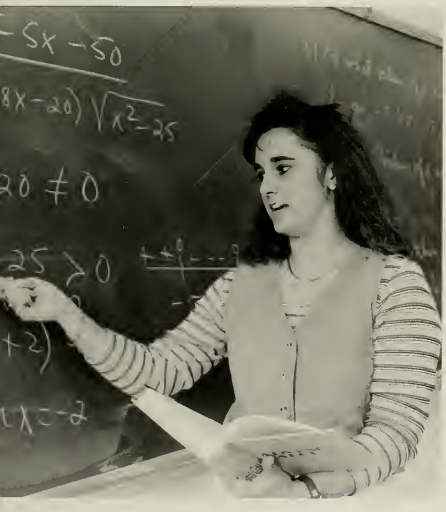
A Parade of Knowledge! Professor Jim Johnson of Business and Economics is one of many professors at Meredith participating in Meredith Pride.

A Full Meal! At a mathematics banquet, Dr. Vivian Kraines chats with her dinner partner and is humored by their conversation.



X=Y! Jennifer Williamson works out an extensive math problem on the board so that her classmates will understand it.

And the Award Goes to... Dr. Charles Davis speaks about the award and award recipient while Michelle Thigpen presents them to the proud acceptor.

Administration

Meredith College's administration provided students with a year of excitement and changes. To many students Johnson Hall is simply a place where registration takes place; however, to others it is the home of those who work to make our experience at Meredith College memorable without a lot of undue pressure. The administration of Meredith College helps to improve our campus by funding such expansions as the addition to Weatherspoon Gym, the newly designed lake, renovations of the International House.

Not only has the administration of Meredith had an impact on the appearance of the campus, but it has also acquired new and familiar faces to the staff. Some of these additions include: Kim Dowd, a woman who has helped to make the freshmen transitions to college smooth and easy ride; and Dean Cannon, who is assuming the role of Dean of Students. Although Dr. Jean Jackson is not a new face, she can no longer be found in an English classroom, instead she can be seen as Vice President of Student Development . These are just a few of the many additions to Meredith's Administration staff. Meredith College administration is filled with new ideas and changes that continue to improve while helping students.

Turning Over a New Leaf

Making Meredith Great!

The Meredith College administration is only one part of the college, but they have a gigantic job, keeping Meredith in line. They deal with everything from schedule changes to paying the colleges bills. If you can name it, they can do it.

Many diverse departments make up this area of Meredith and each of them has their own separate function; for example, there is the accounting office. They are in control of all the financial aid that we receive and the tuition bills that our parents love so much. Then of course there is registration, another department that we all know and love. These are the people that help all of us with our schedules and classes.

Next there is the Dean of Students Office, they help all incoming freshmen adjust to life here at Meredith. The Camcard and Camtel office are also a vital part of our administration, they send us our dreaded phone bills each month and supply us with those beautiful camcard pictures.

These are just a few of the important offices that are part of Meredith's Administration. (Of course we can't forget Dr. Weems, President of the College.) Together, these offices and the people that hold them help run Meredith College and make Meredith great!

-Jennifer Leonard

It's All Good! Dr. Weems gives a speec Meredith students, faculty, alumnae, friends during the convocation Meredith Pride.

Busy, Busy, Busy. . . Dorothy Sizemore, Dean of Students, is always busy either preparing for incoming freshmen, or helping with students problems.

Business, Business, Business. . . Charles "The Controller" Taylor and Anne Pugh have the important job of taking care of Meredith College's Business and Finance Office.

Working Hard to Make the Angels Happy! The Maintenance crew has the job of fixing our overflowing toilets, letting us back into our bathrooms, and turning our electricity back on whenever we overload the circuits. They also keep the grounds looking beautiful.

Making Life Easier...Commuter Life and Student Activities consists of Cheryl Jenkins, Marge Keyes, and Chrissy Nuttle. Together they help plan activities for both commuters and residents and make life here at Meredith more fun.

Watching over the Angels... The security staff at Meredith College consists of Laurence Williams, Jean Trevathan, Timmy Morris, Chief Dan Shattuck, Bill Griner, Jeanette McLeod, J. A. Sumrell II, Worth Bailey, Don Appleford, and S. B. Jones. Together, they make Meredith a safer "home away from home."

First Day On The Job... Dr. Jean Jackson enjoys her new title as the Vice President for Student Development, as she gives the camera a big grin.

Always Ready to Help... The campus ministry staff is always ready to help any one anytime, with a friendly smile and an understanding attitude. They also coordinate activities with the Meredith Christian Association.

With A Friendly Smile... Continuing Education helps graduate students earn their masters degrees by "continuing education."

Keepin the Angels Healthy. . . Melinda McLain, Ru
Pearce, and Loreta Pearson have the tough assignme of keeping Meredith students healthy.

Getting Adjusted. . . The Office for Dean of Studen is extremely important to transfer students and to ne arrrivals, the freshmen. Annie Ruth Tew, Dean Dorot Sizemore, and Kimberly Dowd help them get adjust to Meredith and make their experiences here more fu

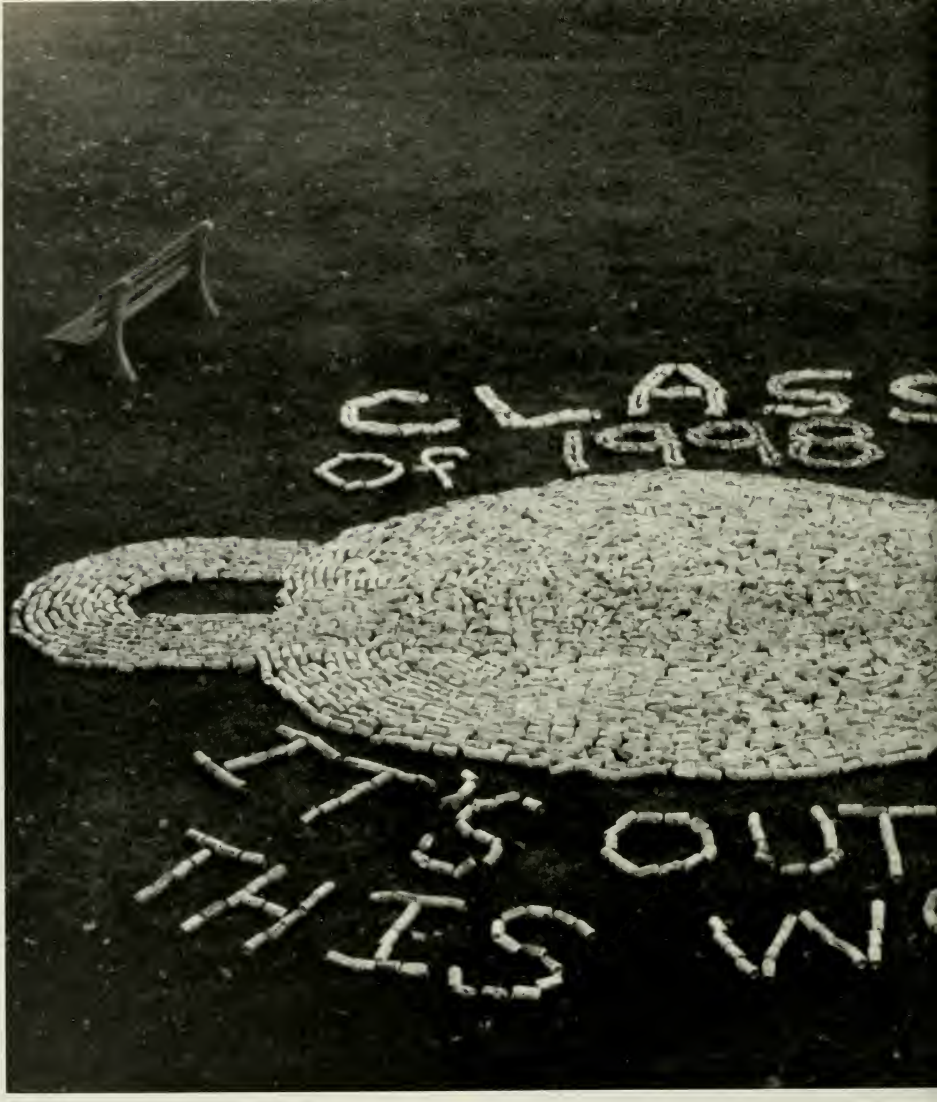
Making Meredith Students The Best! . . . Dr. Jean Jackson, and Mary Ann Bean are busy working in the office for student development.

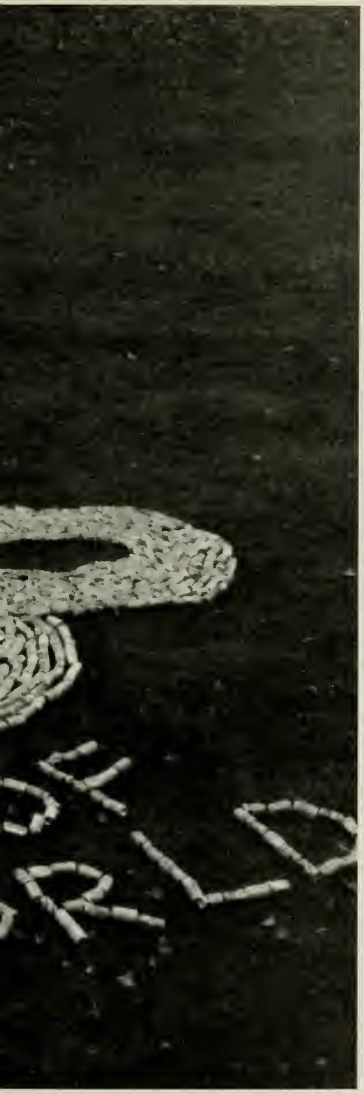
Get a Job!... The Career Services Department prepares students for life in the real world and even helps them find jobs after graduation.

Campus Services... Facility Services and General Services include Casey Bailey, Ricky Sealey, James Jones, Willie King, Brian LeClair, Kathy Turner, and Clarke Suttle.

College Communications... The College Communications staff consists of Jennie Morelock, Brandi Betts, Jo Anne Cota, Steve Mosley, and Gena Salmon.



CLASS
OF 1998
IT'S OUT
THIS WE



Freshmen

For any college bound freshman, the anticipation and excitement of the future is overwhelming. For Meredith freshmen, the care and attention they receive puts all their fears of worry aside and allows them to focus solely on being excited.

The class of 1998 began their freshmen year on a positive note with the week long orientation session better known as "A League of Their Own." This week was an important learning experience for the new students because the session gave them insight on the new and mysterious world of college and independence. At this session, freshmen were shown the ends and outs of Meredith College as well as how to cope with the workload of classes and extracurricular activities.

The transition process for the freshmen class did not stop after orientation. In fact, they were actually required to attend a weekly "Transitions" session for their first semester at Meredith. The thought of having a scheduled seminar to attend every week may not have pleased everyone but after looking back on the experience, every freshman benefitted by becoming more independent and able to cope with the ups and downs of college. The freshmen class came in strong and plan to continue their success. Jennifer Baines

Sophomores

The class of 1997 began their Meredith careers in a "Whole New World," and returned for their second year as sophomores to "Tell You A Tale." After getting past the first year, they still faced another busy yet exciting year to embark upon. The one thing on all Sophomores' minds was choosing a major and hopefully sticking to it.

The sophomores experienced the White Iris Ball and Cornhuskin as usual, but they also got to share a special moment with their fathers at the Sophomore Father-Daughter Dance which was an unforgetable memory for the class of 1997. By the time the fall semester ended the sophomores had added to their scrapbooks, and stress levels with the pressures of exams and declaring a major.

The spring semester brought another special event and that was the Sophomore Mother-Daughter Tea. This year definitely created a bond between daughters and parents. As their second year came to an end, the class of '97 found that the memories were endless and that the fun times to be had were just beginning. Now the sophomores can finally say that they are halfway there.

The Three Musketeers! Sophomores Brandi Stallings and Arinn Dixon rely on the support of their big sister Kendra Dillingham to cheer them on.

Dad's Got the Moves! Nicole Betterton is impressed as she watches her father let it loose.

Spin Me Around! Dana Beam and her father are in another world as they concentrate on perfecting their moves.

Male Bonding! As their daughters dance to music that is more popular to them, the fathers take a breather and gossip about the eventful night.

Great Party! This particular group hers seem to be just as excited as daughters to get out on the dance

All Smiles! Shelley Humphrey and her father are all smiles as the night comes to an end. Their time together was priceless.

Step With Me Dad! This sophomore's father catches on fast as he follows his daughter's fancy footwork.

Enjoying the Moment! The special father daughter bonding that takes place during the sophomore year will always be remembered by this proud father.

We Found a Table! Because of the successful turnout at the Mother-Daughter Tea, people were lucky to find a place to sit. April Arnold and Deborah Zimmerman chat with their mothers before the speaker.

Words to Remember! The speaker for this special event spoke from her experiences after having graduated from a women's college. She stressed the independence a woman gains from being exposed to a woman's college and spoke of her own success of being a Senator.

Taking a Break! Ana Lupton and Christy Powers let their mothers sit for a while before they break into the crowd of mothers and daughters.

Meeting Meredith Moms! Not only is the tea a time for Meredith students to mingle, but also for mothers to get a chance to know one another or catch up from a previous event. The mothers of Meredith Russell and Sarah Rumney seem to enjoy their chance to talk.

nks Mom! Sophomore Class ident Collyn Evans thanks her mom everything she has done for her and resses her love for her mother with traditional hug at the closing of the y

The Ones in Charge! Frances Moran and Jennifer Johnson took on the responsibility of being Mother-Daughter Tea co-chairs for 1995. As a result of their hard work, the day turned out to be a complete success.

A Rose for Our Mothers! One of the tradition of the Mother-Daughter Tea is that each mother is given a rose by her daughter as a show of her affection. Jennifer Baines and Jenny Moore do just that as their mothers proudly display their gifts.

Juniors

This is the year where a student knows she only has one more year but cannot even imagine what the end of the long road looks like. To know that one is so close but yet so far away is unbearable at times but the junior class of 1996 does not let that stop them from reaching for the top and following their dreams.

The juniors had a lot to look foward to this year including one of the most rewarding events in a Meredith students' career and that is the Junior Class Ring Dinner. This is a time where students can reminisce their struggles and accomplishments of getting to this point, and then compare their rings and dote over them. Somehow, this event makes all the hard work everything seem worth it.

Another exciting moment in the lives of the junior class was when they finally got to meet their little sister class of 1998. The bond between a big sister and her little sister can be the most wonderful friendship in the world, and now the juniors would be the special class that would make the transition for their little sisters that much easier. After having seen their big sisters graduate, they knew that getting a new addition to the family would be unforgetable. As the class of '96 finished their junior year, they made wonderful friendships and memories to last a lifetime. Jennifer Baines

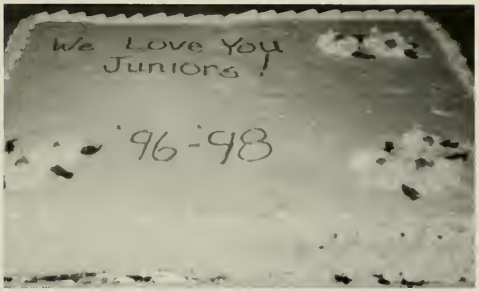
A Constant Reminder! Juniors throughout the Meredith campus were reminded of their upcoming special event as banners and fliers were posted.

Wearing Years of Accomplishment! At the annual Ring Dinner, these juniors sport the new addition to their jewelry collection.

Trying On the Goods! During the junior class ring sales, juniors could try on model rings to see which one would fit just right. This junior appears to be quite happy with her selection.

The One Who Made It All Possible! This patient and hardworking Jostens Representative sat outside the Student Store everyday until the final day to purchase class rings.

Should We Eat It? The beautifully decorated cake presented to the junior class at the Ring Dinner almost looked too good to dig into.



omplete Package! Once these ecstatic ors received their class rings, they felt they were almost done with 15 years hool under their belts.

Seniors

All of those who have been a part of the class of 1995 know why our days at Meredith College will be ones that will never flee from our memories. We came to Meredith as freshmen known as "The Few, the Proud, the Meredith Angels," and soon we were "Moving Right Along," to declare a major as sophomores.

"Once Upon a Time," as juniors, we received class rings that now unify us with all of the other Meredith Angels. For so long the title of senior seemed to be an unreachable one, but we finally made it, and soon college will be nothing more than just a memory as we move on to the next phase in our lives.

Although we have reached "Our Final Countdown," Meredith College will live forever, in our hearts as the institution where we gained valuable knowledge, and as the haven where we found friends and friendships that made our college years full of laughs and excitement.

Rachel Bordeaux

Dinner Cocktails! The White Iris Ball proved to be a great event for all classes, especially those seniors who are getting ready to make their way to the Civic Center.

Like Big Sis, Like Little Sis! Having a big or little sister is so important at Meredith. They are special people you can share the best memories ever with. Senior Jan Everhart and sophomore Alicia Kim do just that.

I Love Dining Hall Food! Although the dining hall food is good, seven straight days of dining hall food seems like the end of the world.

We're Here! Happy seniors are all sm as they stand together unified as the pr
senior class of 1995 at Meredith Pride

Top Transportation! During Cornhuskin, the senior class made their entrance any way they felt would make a statement including army jeeps, buses, and convertibles.

Sisters in Every Way! This set of senior twins have accomplished double the work and success and feel double the excitement of finally graduating. This is their last White Iris Ball together so they make it double the fun.

The Treasured Class Doll! Every year the senior class works extra hard to make their class doll the best. The 1995 class doll, Charlie, named after Senior Class Advisor, Dr. Charles Davis, wears the latest style of dress, jewelry, and accessories.

Gracefully White! As the senior class sings the Alma Mater, emotions of happiness, sadness, and anticipation are evident.

Friends Stick Together... Even through the ups and downs of four years of college. This bunch of senior girls found that sticking together made it easier to get through anything.

A Gallery of Seniors! Seniors have privileged honor of standing on all floors of Johnson Hall dur Cornhuskin. They have made it up college ladder and they now get chance to look out over all underclassmen with joy and happin Success Roses! Proud graduate, Jenny Pevehouse watches as her friends cross the path that she just crossed to finally become a Meredith graduate.

Oscar Award Winners... At least in the judge's and Meredith Community's eyes. These seniors carry their class to a first place skit finish and also an overall first place finish.

The First Batch! 1995 Seniors came into their freshmen year with a bang as they paraded their theme, "The Few, The Proud, the Meredith Angels."

The Second Batch! Members of the senior class, reminisce back to their sophomore year by carrying in a banner that includes their sophomore theme, "Moving Right Along."

Congratu
Class of

Meredith Pride! Certain students in the senior class of 1995 picked their convenient spot to watch as the crowd below waved and cheered.

Physically Decorated! Not only did seniors decorate fancy cars, they decorated themselves with colorful costumes and makeup.

One More Year! "Once Upon a Time," was the reoccurring theme throughout the class of 1995's junior year. They took pride in that theme by proudly displaying their past theme.

The Finale! This group of seniors carries the current 1995 theme, "Our Final Countdown," and breathes a sigh of relief knowing that they are almost done.

lations,

1995!!

Little Red Riding Hood X's Three! These seniors prepared for hog calling and a dynamic entrance with a touch of humor.

A Pickup Entrance! Some seniors chose to squeeze as many of themselves as possible into the back of a truck

PRESIDENT WEEMS, BOARD OF TRUSTEES, FACULTY, STAFF, FAMILY, FRIENDS, AND FELLOW GRADUATES OF THE CLASS OF 1995----

Our final Countdown is over.
As I look out at all of you today, it is hard for me to believe that we won't be returning to Meredith tonight, next week, or even next fall.
As I look all around me, I realize there are many things about Meredith I'm going to miss.
I'm going to miss the beautiful campus--in the fall when the leaves are just beginning to change into brillant autumn colors, and at springtime when all the flowers are all in bloom.
I'm going to miss returning to the dorms after a long weekend-- or even a long day--and running to everyone's room to catch up on everything that's been going on while I was gone.
I'm going to miss eating breakfast, lunch, and dinner like a family.
And I think that eventually, when I'm out on my own, I may even miss the food in Belk Dining Hall--maybe!
But more importantly than all these things, the one thing about Meredith I'm going to miss more than anything else is each of you--the Class of 1995.

Although many of us don't know where we are going, we will cherish where we have been.
The past four years have been the best of my life, and I owe that to each of you.
Together, we had it all!
We have supported each other in good times and through bad times. We have turned to each other for a listening ear, an understanding hug, a reassuring smile, and an open heart.
We lived together, laughed together, stressed out together, and even cried together.
But through it all we have loved together.
We have developed friendships that will last forever. And although we may leave Meredith, we will never leave each other. And really, we won't leave Meredith either because you never really leave a place you love--part of it you take with you, leaving part of it behind. Meredith has given each of us the best education and the fondest memories we could have ever asked for. That, we will take with us. It has been the mission of Meredith College to promote excellence in women since 1891 by fostering in all its activities and relationships the ideals ofpersonal integrity, intellectual freedom, and academic scholarship. Meredith has done this with the help of a wonderful faculty and staff that have come through for us time after time, year after year. This we will leave behind for the generations of Merdith women that are yet to come. So as you can see, Meredith College will always be that bond that unites every member of the Class of '95.

I have every confidence in each of you and in your ability to find your place in this world, because each of you can make a difference-- you don't have to be smarter, faster, stronger, richer, or more talented than anyone else you don't need a lifetime to get ready it only takes courage now!
When the truth needs to be said, when the work needs to be done, when the help needs to be given... you can make the difference by earning people's trust and giving them your respect.
You can build a world where good things happen for all of us.
Because the only reason there is for being alive is to make the most of what you have- - your time, your ideas, your love.
That's all you need- - you can make a difference.
I know you will all go far in life.
I want to thank each of you for sharing a part of yourself with me. You will always hold a very special place in my heart.

d now, Class of 1995, in order for us to be official Meredith graduates, please join me by taking your class rings and ning them so that the Meredith seal is facing out.

ngratulations Class of 1995. May god bless you always.

- Catherine N. Davis '95
Senior Class President

Editors' Note

The road to the completion of the 1994-1995 Oak Leaves yearbook has been a long and difficult process; however, the strides that we have made as independent and strong leaders have proven to be lessons we will grow from. We have really defined true teamwork by working long hours, weekends, and even during the summer to get our prized possession completed.

This book is for you, the Meredith faculty and students who take pride in such a memorable treasure. You realize that a yearbook is much more than just a scrapbook full of pictures. It is a constant reminder of your Meredith experience and a book that you will be proud to show your children and loved ones. This is why we worked so hard to produce it.

With the help of Amy Newsom, Melissa Griffin, Rachel Bordeaux, Shannon Bizzell, Jennifer Leonard, Jennifer Gjetson, Tricia Ward, and Becky Hale, the process of creating a yearbook was a little bit easier. The dedication they exhibited when all others left proved that there are people who care about their own personal feeling of satisfaction as well as the Meredith Community. Thanks for sticking buy us and for all your hard work. You were all extremely important in making the production a reachable goal.

We would also like to recognize those special people, our families , roommates, and boyfriends, in our lives who have been there for us and served as not only a listening ear as we complain but as a source of strength. They did not give up on us and in fact pushed and encouraged us even harder to get the book done. They were strong believers in our strength and ability throughout the year and knowing that they knew we could do it inspired us to complete our goal.

A little closer to the whole situation and productionof the yearbook was Chrissie, Cheryl and Marge in Student Activities. They kept us informed about all necessary news (even if it took longer than a minute), and served as our punching bags at times because they always seemed to be there when we were about to go crazy. Never once did they back down with their assistance or frienship. Instead, they worked harder to make our responsibilities easier, and most importantly, they were understanding and concerned about us. Thanks for everything!

We would also like to thank all our photographers, including Shannon Bizzell, Jennifer Gjetson, College Communications, Lifetouch Studios, and Herald Staff who were responsible for a significant number of photos. To those who donated pictures, we appreciate your contributions.

Although there have been times where we both could have walked away, we chose to stick together and drive ourselves to finish. Deep in our hearts, we know the best feeling in the world will come when the final result is placed in our anxious hands. At that moment all of the struggles faced throughout the year will disappear instantly.

If anything we have formed a friendship and bond that will last forever. That is the most wonderful gift we could ever receive from our time together as co-editors. To Patricia Trueman, future Editor, and Amy Newsome, future Assistant Editor, we wish both of you the best of luck. May you find strength in each other, as did we, and develop a strong and lasting friendship.

This yearbook is dedicated to our loved ones,friends, and all who helped along the way to make the production smooth.

Thanks! We Love All of Ya'll!

Well, Laura this is it. Now that you are out of here, Meredith won't be the same. Thanks for being the Best Big Sis, being there for me, and teaching me so much. I wish you the best in all you do. Keep on shining!

I Love You,
Angie

Proverbs 27:17

What can I say, my experiences at Meredith have come to an end... but the friendships I've made will live forever.

-Jen, Liz, Dana & Kat... there's no question , you guys are the greatest! You stuck by me through good and bad times and always managed to make me laugh. I love you crazy girls!

- To all my wonderful friends on 4th Brewer - thanks for making our hall a blast!

- To my girls of the summer, including my sidekick Brandi, all of you helped me survive through the hardest part of my life. Summer wasn't so bad after all knowing that I always had my friends to come home to!

I love you all - You made my Meredith memory unforgetable!
